

Multistate Tax Commission

Job Announcement Policy Research Department Intern

The Multistate Tax Commission is seeking a temporary, part-time, intern for its Policy Research Department. The Multistate Tax Commission is an agency of state governments established to help make state tax systems fair, effective and efficient in a multi-jurisdictional context, and to protect state fiscal authority. The intern will perform research in the area of state and local taxation of telecommunications services. Duties will include: surveying states regarding taxation of these services; compiling survey results regarding states' adoption of MTC model statutes, rules, and guidelines; and assisting in writing and editing articles for the Commission's publication The Multistate Tax Commission Review. The internship will be for a nine-month period, requiring 15 to 20 hours per week. Hourly rate of pay will be $15 to $20 per hour, commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Minimum qualifications for this internship include a bachelor's degree in economics, business, public administration, or policy analysis (including course work in public finance or industrial organization). The intern must have a demonstrated ability in using computers for policy research purposes, including the ability to use word processing software and at least one of the following: spreadsheet, database, or statistical analysis software.

The Multistate Tax Commission is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
